DEGREES EARNED/EDUCATION:

PhD., Classics, Johns Hopkins University (May, 1990)

Dissertation: Poetry and Power: Studies on Augustan Monuments and the Poets of the Augustan Age (University Microfilm, Inc. #9018614)

M.A., Classics, Johns Hopkins University (1985)

Summer Session, American School of Classical Studies. Athens, Greece (summer, 1985)

Teaching Certification, Virginia Commonwealth University (1978)

B.A., Classics, University of Richmond, magna cum laude (1977)
Thesis: The Social and Political Aspects of Novitas in Ancient Rome

OTHER EDUCATIONAL EXPERIENCE:

National Trust Leadership Training Program, Nebraska City, Nebraska, June 2007
(received certificate)

ARCHAEOLOGICAL EXPERIENCE:

Supervisor, Prastio Mesorotsos, Cyprus, 23 June-28 July 2012 (Director – Dr. Andrew McCarthy, Cyprus American Archaeological Research Institute)

Site Survey, Episkopi-Kandou, Cyprus. June 1986 (Director - Dr. Diana Buitron-Oliver) --During this season, I worked as site photographer, draftsman and registrar. My duties included cataloging and systematic storage of the objects found on the survey through written records indicating the location of the finds, photographic reproduction of the significant finds and drafting (drawing) profiles of pottery shards that could be studied and analyzed at the end of the survey. (Xeroxed samples available)

Study Season, Sotira-Khamenoudia, Cyprus. August 1985 (Director - Dr. Stuart Swiny, Cyprus American Archaeological Research Institute) My primary duty was to create a computer database of the cataloged objects recovered during the previous seasons of excavation for use in publication of the Bronze Age site of Sotira. One purpose of the database was to aid in locating the find spots for the objects on site plans, thus reconstructing the excavation on paper.

Study Season, Apollo Hylates Sanctuary, Kourion, Cyprus. July-August 1984 (Director - Dr. Diana Buitron-Oliver) My duties included photographing and drafting significant objects for publication of the excavation.

EMPLOYMENT HISTORY:

Museum Experience:

Visiting Curator, A Day in Pompeii, Science Museum of Minnesota, St. Paul, Minnesota, June 2007 – January 2008

Visiting Curator, A Day in Pompeii, Exploreum Museum, Mobile Alabama, August 2005 – (overseeing all aspects of exhibit of artifacts on loan from Pompeii; exhibit begins January 2007 in Mobile and will travel to at least three other venues in the United States)

Draftsman, National Gallery of Art. Washington, D.C., June 1987 (drafted profiles of the 43 Majolica vases in the collection of the National Gallery of Art for publication scheduled for fall 1988) (Xeroxed samples available)

Curatorial Assistant, Johns Hopkins Archaeological Collection, 1984-88 (duties ranged from maintenance of the archives, making permanent photographic record of collection, rotating exhibits, giving lectures/tours of the collection to individuals or groups that usually allowed visitors the opportunity to handle objects brought from storage to administrative work, including correspondence with scholars requesting photographs and information about artifacts for their publications)

Intern, Department of Greek and Roman Art, Walters Art Gallery. Baltimore,

Maryland, 1983 (duties included assisting the Curator with administrative duties of the Greek and Roman collection, both in storage and on display, such as taking objects from display or storage to the Conservation Department for study and/or preservation and preparing objects for rotating exhibits within the museum or for travel to other museums)

Classical Studies minor (approved, Spring 1989)

Classical Studies major (approved, Spring 1996)

Revision of the Latin and Greek curricula -- I began this project in the Fall 1993 semester in order to develop language curricula that are more in keeping with what other departments are doing and in order to create a smoother rotation of advanced level courses. The department had the entire package before the College Curriculum Committee in Fall 1996 and it was approved in Spring 1997.

RESEARCH AND CREATIVE ACTIVITY:

Exhibitions: (Preparation for the following museum shows entailed selecting from storage the objects that would be displayed. I then researched the archival records and publications dealing with the types of objects selected for the purpose of designing the labels that would be placed in the display cases with the objects. The label information included the type of object, its provenience, date and a description. In addition to the individual labels, additional information on larger plaques regarding the general history, use, manufacture, etc. would be part of the exhibit in order to give the viewer a context for the objects on display. My duties also included the design and arrangement of objects within the display cases, the selection of fabrics to be used for the displays and the installation of the objects prior to the exhibition. When the exhibit ended, I then returned the objects to storage and updated any archival information that needed it.)
